DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is too long. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rabenau (USPN 3561101).

Rabenau teaches presenting a first sheet of metal coated with an alloyable metal (3) having a coated surface with a first alloyable metal (2,4) deposited thereon, presenting a second sheet of metal coated with an alloyable metal (7) having a coated surface with a first alloyable metal (6,8) deposited thereon, placing a sheet of a second alloyable metal (5) between the coated surfaces of the first and second sheets, applying heat and pressure and cooling. The base metal members comprise steel and aluminum (col 2 line 60 – col 3 line 49).

5. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Reschnar et al. (USPN 6829824 B2).

Reschnar teaches presenting a first sheet of metal coated with an alloyable metal having a coated surface with a first alloyable metal (solder) deposited thereon, presenting a second sheet of metal coated with an alloyable metal having a coated surface with a first alloyable metal (solder) deposited thereon, placing a sheet of a second alloyable metal between the coated surfaces of the first and second sheets, applying heat and pressure and cooling (col 1 line 47 – col 2 line 7 and claim 1). The base metal members comprise copper and aluminum (col 2 lines 60-67).

Response to Arguments

6. It is noted that the abstract has not been replaced and is still too long.
7. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., metals not held for sufficient time to allow diffusion, particularly several minutes) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).
8. Rabenau teaches roll bonding as one of many options for bonding the materials, which are held for a sufficient time to bond. Therefore the 102 rejection of claims 1-5 as anticipated by Rabenau stands.
9. Reschnar teaches that the plates are compressed and heated and refer to a diffusion process in the abstract. Therefore the 102 rejection of claims 1-5 as anticipated by Reschnar stands.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Rhee (USPN 3735479), Syn et al. (USPN 5429879) and Kuriyama et al. (US 2004/0200888 A1).

11. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
